

Counsellor, Support, & Ministry Positions for a Couple

Do you have a desire/calling to use your skills in a specifically Christian setting?

Cross Roads Christian Community Trust has been working with people in need since 1993, and has operated a residential programme for those with life-controlling problems, (FreedomLife Te Nikau) and a counselling centre since 1999 in Paraparaumu, on the Kapiti Coast.

We are looking for a couple, at least one of whom will have general counselling or addiction counselling qualifications and experience.

The Counsellor(s) will be able to competently counsel, facilitate small groups based on video/discussion, and be able to share their Christian faith in various ministry situations.

Experience in addiction and compulsive behaviour work would be helpful, but not essential, as we take a whole of life approach to recovery, dealing with many background issues (including relationships, grief, abuse, rejection, depression, etc.)

The other person, depending on skills, and time available, (if there are children at home) could be involved in a variety of caring, ministry, administration, small group, or support roles.

As this programme is Christian faith based, applicants will be competent and comfortable in working from this perspective as appropriate.

One position is paid, the other voluntary, (some time may be available for outside part-time work if needed).

This is a live-in situation, (with accommodation suitable for a couple or family). Remuneration is one salary. (Check with us regarding accommodation and power details.)
